RoHS Directive 2011/65/EU (replacing directive 2001/95/EC)

Whilst Photovoltaic Modules are explicitly exempt from this directive, this note is to confirm that, based on the information being made available to us from our raw material and component providers, the products listed above do not contain as intentional additives any of the below listed materials in concentrations above the permitted level.

- Hexavalent chromium compounds
- Cadmium and its components
- Mercury and its components
- Lead and its components
- Polybrominated diphenyl ethers
- Polybrominated biphenyls
